
Don't Be In The Dog House

The NightAir™ Light Trap Fan Transition Kit from VAL-CO® eliminates the need for building a dog house for your fans if you are using a light trap to block out light.

The light trap is on hinges so it is easy to swing the light trap open to access your fan to clean the shutter, grease the bearings, check the belt tension

- Large effective area of light trap which reduces the static pressure that the fan experiences.
- The flush mount design is very robust and has powder coat over galvanized steel transition panels for even more protection.
- The non-flush mount kit is great for retrofits where you want to add light traps in front of exhaust fans without a major construction project.
- Ships unassembled which helps save money on freight.
