Easily Keep Your Lines Clean!

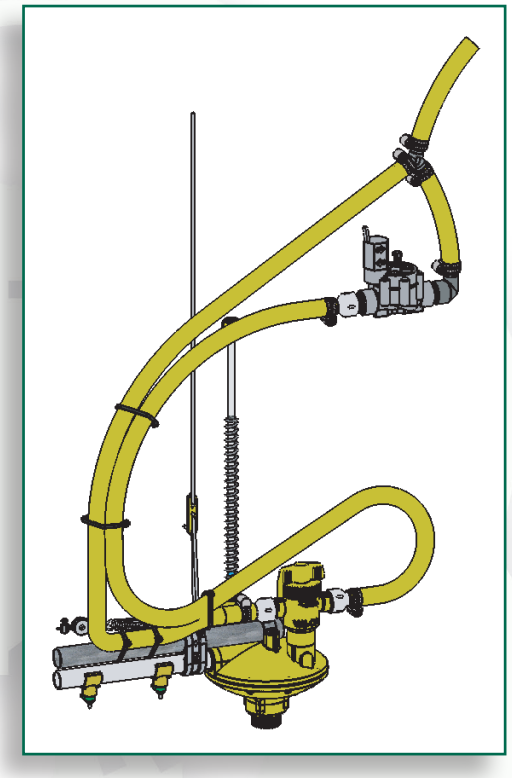

With the Automatic Flush Kit from VAL-CO

The watering system in a poultry house is one of, if not the, most important pieces needed to ensure you have a good, healthy flock. Having the right system to deliver water at a precise level is only part of the equation. You need to make sure you keep that water line clean to provide the fresh, clean water that birds need to maintain good health and grow.

VAL-CO can help. We offer options to autoflush your lines to help keep your watering system operating to provide you peak performance.

Helpful Tip: It's preferred to flush daily, but definitely flush immediately after running additives.

The suggested installation method has the automatic flush valve mounted to the wall or ceiling.
